

Serial No.: 10/663,006
Docket No.: ECV-5662
Amendment dated March 8, 2006
Responsive to the Office Action dated February 10, 2006

REMARKS/ARGUMENTS

Claims 1-19 remain pending, though claim 11 has been withdrawn.

The Examiner has restricted the claims under 35 U.S.C. §121 to the following inventions:

- 5 I. Claims 1-11, drawn to a suturing template, classified in class 606, subclass 150.
- II. Claims 12-19, drawn to a method of implanting a heart valve, classified in class 623, subclass 2.11.

10 Applicants traverses the Restriction Requirement. The Examiner reasons that the method of claim 12 can be performed by hand (i.e., the method can be performed by a materially different apparatus than claims 1-11). However, claim 12 includes steps that cannot be performed by hand.
In particular, the step of placing a suture template having a plurality of notches at a location of the heart that is to receive the prosthetic valve cannot be done by hand. Furthermore, the method includes placing a plurality of sutures through the template notches so as to properly attach the 15 prosthetic valve. Applicant fails to see how this method can be performed without the template, and thus it cannot be performed by hand.

 Accordingly, Applicant respectfully requests the Examiner withdraw the invention Restriction Requirement and examine both sets of claims. Applicant further suggest that class 623, subclass 2.11 is a more appropriate primary classification because of the stated application of 20 the suture template of amended claim 1 "for facilitating implantation of a prosthetic heart valve," and because the template mimics the shape of the prosthetic heart.

 In the event that the Examiner disagrees, Applicant provisionally elects invention II, claims 12-19.

25 The Examiner has further restricted the application to the following species:
Species (i): Figure 4a
Species (ii): Figure 4d

Applicant elects without traverse the invention of Species (i) embodied in Figure 4a. Currently, claims 1-10 and 12-19 read on species (i). Accordingly, claim 11 has been withdrawn pending allowance of a generic base claim. Both claims 1 and 12 are generic.
